

Dear FCC,

XM Satellite Radio is the best information and entertainment innovation since the radio was invented. Commercial radio stations had become a barrage of advertising and repetitious, uninspired programming. What a blessing to have XM. How many times in my life did I drive across the U.S. and either have no radio transmission available at all or have only music that was not to my taste? Important information was usually not available at all or available only to those who knew the right station and knew when news and weather was broadcast. Satellite radio has changed all that and provides what is an essential service for me.

Please reject the NAB's petition 04-160 and support XM and their freedom to provide the necessary services that I want and pay for.

Regards,

Leah Wilde
